

We need canned goods for St. Vincent DePaul, please!

Parent to Parent

How has your week of Hope been going? In my personal life, I sometimes direct shows for community theatre groups. One of my shows opens this Friday, and I find myself hoping all goes well, praying for patience when a cast member blows her lines, and grateful for the light that humor and song infuse into those brooding, anxious moments. When I was raising small children, it was the same way. Hope, patience (or waiting), and light could be found in so many everyday moments. My prayer for you is that you are able to experience the holiness of Advent this week, even if it is only when reflecting on your day and seeing the light in retrospect. Peace!
